SHOCK AT DEATH OF ROWING COX

Olympic silver medallist Acer Nethercott an 'inspiration to young people'

TRIBUTES have been paid to Harlow's medal-winning Olympic rowing cox Acer Nethercott, who died on Saturday at the age of 35.

The former Mark Hall School pupil steered the men's GB team to a silver medal at the 2008 Olympics in Beijing and was widely regarded as one of Britain's most gifted coxswains.

Although the cause of his death has not been announced, he had been battling an aggressive form of brain cancer since 2010.

This week his mother, Glynis Evans, described his death as a "gut-wrenching loss" for his family.

"Acer was an absolutely awesome guy who was a real privilege to have in our family," she told the Star. "We were truly proud of him, not just for his achievements but also for how kind, generous and influential he was to the countless people he met and made an impression upon.

"Whilst taken from us far too early, he really did lead a full life due to his verve and determination which resulted in elite academic and sporting achievements, as well as travelling to all ends of the globe."

She added: "It leaves a huge hole in our lives, but we take comfort from the positive and lasting legacy he has left with so many."

An Oxford University graduate with a doctorate in the philosophy of language, Acer steered both women's and men's boats while studying at King's College, including the famous "one-foot" Boat Race victory in 2003 – the shortest victory margin in the history of the event.

He guided Oxford to a second Boat Race win in 2005 and also led the team which controversially lost to Cambridge in 2004 after a clash of blades.

In the summer of 2005 he started coxing the international British men's eight, a role which saw him win bronze at the 2007 World Rowing Championships in Munich.

But the scene of his greatest triumph was the Beijing Olympics the following year when he coxed the men's GB rowing team to a silver medal.

He then took a year off coxing, cycling from Land's End to John O'Groats and competing in several gruelling ironman triathlons for charity.

He had planned to trial for the team again in 2010 when he was diagnosed with cancer. After surgery and chemotherapy proved partly successful,

Shock at death of UK Olympic rowing cox Acer

he put himself into contention for a place on Team GB for London 2012, but impaired vision made it difficult for him to steer precisely enough for international racing and he lost out to fellow cox Phelan Hill.

GB went on to win bronze, finishing behind Germany and Canada.

His mum, who now lives in Bishop's Stortford, said Acer regularly returned to Harlow to give talks at local schools and attend civic functions, and had remained fiercely proud of his roots.

"He sought to give back to the community, to help inspire the future generations to see that it is possible with the right attitude and determination to go from a Harlow comprehensive to Oxford University and get the highest result in your year, to compete in boat races and win an Olympic silver medal, despite not being the biggest, strongest or fastest," she said.

"His nature was always to give up his own time and he travelled back to attend civic dinners and did speeches locally at schools, being guest of honour at a number of prize evenings."

The town's pride in Acer's sporting achievements was recognised by Harlow Council in 2008 when it presented him with a civic award.

This week council chair Maggie Hulcoop told the Star: "Acer competed at the very highest level of sport and his success, dedication and hard work will always be remembered.

"He was an inspiration to young people in this town. Shortly after his Olympic success he visited schools to talk to pupils about how they can fulfil their potential.

"He also gave inspirational speeches at events and provided advice to the Harlow Olympic Working Group.

"This is very sad news and our thoughts are with Acer's family."

Di Ellis, chairman of British Rowing, added: "I was deeply saddened to hear of the death of Acer.

"He was a young man who always appeared as an independent spirit with a sense of fun, but once in the boat he was a determined competitive cox for his crew, whether club, university or country."

Tough times ahead warns council chief

COUNCIL leader Mark Wilkinson has warned of tough times ahead for Harlow residents as the authority tries to balance its books against a backdrop of Government cuts to its funding.

Speaking to the Star ahead of his Labour administration's first budget, Cllr Wilkinson said it had done its "level best" to protect services including the Playhouse and Pets' Corner while keeping rent and council tax increases to a minimum.

"It's a balancing act that has involved some very difficult decisions," he said. "Having lived in Harlow all my life I know exactly how much services like the Playhouse and Pets' Corner mean to local residents, which is why we have done everything we can to safeguard their immediate future.

"Obviously the money to be able to do this has to come from somewhere, which is why we're having to increase council tax by a modest 1.5 per cent. That's the equivalent of around 10p per week extra for the average Harlow household."

MARK WILKINSON: "We spent a lot of time this year having to make some really difficult decisions"

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

Asked why the council had chosen to increase its demand instead of taking advantage of a Council Tax Freeze Grant worth the equivalent of a one per cent rise, Cllr Wilkinson dismissed the Government initiative as a "gimmick".

"The council tax freeze sounds good in the short-term but it puts major pressure on the medium term finances of the council," he said. "It would have been irresponsible of us as an authority to take it and risk starting next year with an even bigger shortfall."

The budget will also draw criticism from motorists, who will be forced to pay a minimum of 20p to park in council-controlled car parks from September.

"It was a tough decision to make, but we have had to scrap free parking for the first hour in our car parks," Cllr Wilkinson said. "I don't believe that 20p will make a great deal of difference to traders or shoppers, and while I understand that people might have concerns, it was what the alternatives were – cutting other services instead – that led us to make this decision."

Other notable changes include the introduction of an £18 fixed fee for market pitches and big increases in the fees levied for building control services.

Council tenants will also have to pay an average of £3.50 extra per week on rent, although Cllr Wilkinson pointed out that the 4.21 per cent rise was the lowest proposed by any administration within the past four years.

"We understand how tough it is out there for our tenants at the moment, which is why we've kept rent rises to a minimum," he said. "We think this is a reasonable and realistic increase, especially compared to the 7.3 per cent hike implemented by the Tory administration in last year's budget."

He added: "The message we want to get out is that the Government has made some savage cuts to local authorities. To a small authority like Harlow, £1.7m is a colossal amount of money.

"We spent a lot of time this year having to make some really difficult decisions but at the same time we wanted to make sure that the services, people rely on are protected. To do this people have to understand there will inevitably be some pain in other areas."

The budget will be scrutinised by the cabinet tonight (Thursday) before going to full council for ratification on February 7.

Susan's embarking on a dog rescue mission

A BIG-hearted dog owner who helped find new homes for two dumped puppies being cared for by a Romanian rescue shelter is urging fellow animal lovers to follow her lead.

Susan Dellow (56), of Wedgewood Drive, Harlow, found out about the plight of stray dogs in the eastern European country when she read an article in a national newspaper.

It inspired her to start her own research – and she was horrified by what she discovered.

“When I looked into the problem in greater detail, I was sickened by what I found,” she said. “Romania has a huge problem with stray dogs and the unbelievable cruelty some of these poor animals have been subjected to, even in the state-run public shelters, is simply horrific.

“The situation is so bad the independent rescue homes are oversubscribed. They simply can't cope with the number of animals needing their help.”

After making contact with the Private Shelter Istrita de Jos, Susan offered to help out by donating food and money.

By BIANCA CASTRO
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

While in contact with staff, she was told about two puppies that had been dumped in a supermarket car park. Moved by their plight, she decided to help staff find them a new home in the UK.

She explained: “I was already in touch and making contacts with people at the shelter when I heard about Ambra and her brother. A lady from Stevenage wanted the male and another person wanted the female but then changed his mind.

“The shelter put out an urgent appeal for new homes for Ambra and I thought I could give her a good home.”

In December last year the two puppies made the three-day trip from Romania to the UK, where Susan was waiting to give the pup a new home.

“I cannot put into words the feelings I had when the van turned up, the doors opened and there was my beautiful Ambra, who was absolutely petrified,” she said. “I took her in my arms and cuddled her all the way home.

“She has been with us for a month now and she's the light of my life. I was worried that she wouldn't get along with my two other dogs but everything has been perfect.”

Susan now plans to travel out to Romania in May to help the rescue centre look after their 120 dogs.

“I want to see first-hand what goes on over there. I want to see how I can help in terms of donations and finding UK homes for some of these dogs.

“I know people will be thinking why don't we focus on the dogs in England that have no homes, but the abuse and suffering that is going on in Romania towards those dogs is terrible.

“An abandoned animal here that is taken to a home lives a life of luxury in comparison to how abandoned dogs are treated in Romania. It really is appalling.”

MACMILLAN Cancer Support is encouraging people in Harlow to pit their wits against each other by organising a ‘mammoth’ quiz event in aid of the charity.

The fundraising initiative was created by the charity's fund-raising committee in Northamptonshire in 2009 and more than £69,000 has since been raised by quizzers across the country.

Last year was the most successful event ever, securing a Guinness World Record for the most simultaneous quizzes involving a total of 2,679 players.

Daffodil fundraiser needs volunteers

MARIE Curie Cancer Care is appealing for volunteers in Sawbridgeworth to sell daffodil pins this March.

The Great Daffodil Appeal is the charity's biggest fund-raiser, generating vital donations to continue providing free care to local people with a terminal illness in their own home.

Community fundraiser Cathy Copeland said: “We need 1,000 people from Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire to help us collect this March. Collecting is such a great experience and I hope everyone will help us make this year's Great Daffodil Appeal a success.”

To volunteer, call 01920 467177 or visit www.mariecurie.org.uk/daffodil.

BABY charity Tommy's has teamed up with the Asda supermarket chain to help expectant mothers have the best pregnancy possible.

The supermarket's pharmacy at the Water Gardens store in Harlow now stocks the free ‘Having a Healthy Pregnancy’ guide to help mums-to-be to prepare for their new arrival.

The 104-page guide provides key information on the different stages of pregnancy and antenatal care and lifestyle advice including diet and nutrition, weight management, exercise and more.

Lottery winners

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, January 25 is ticket holder 699824, who lives in Epping.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 263856, who lives in Sawbridgeworth.

Fun workshops talk up the benefits of communication

PARENTS and toddlers enjoyed a week of activity workshops designed to help get them talking and boost literacy skills in later life.

Health and care students from Harlow College hosted the free events in the Asda supermarket café for parents and children aged 2-4.

The week kicked off with activities including a mini disco, puppet show, trolley bingo and various party games.

Harlow College marketing director Paul Woods said: “Students' literacy skills when they go into school, and then college, are low. This can be because of those early years of not having a conversation with their parents.

“Parents are often not communicating properly with their children as we lose that conversational aspect of our family units. It can be a disadvantage in early development and affect literacy skills later on.

“We thought this was a good event to do to confront the issue and encourage parents and their kids to talk to each other.”

With no set timetable for games and activities, children and parents were able to decide what they would prefer to spend their time doing.

Paul added: “With this week of events we wanted to show that there are lots of things you can do in terms of communicating with your child and that it can be fun.”

MY VIEW FROM WESTMINSTER

by Robert Halfon
MP for Harlow

In or out, status quo won't be an option in EU vote

THERE are two important things to remember about David Cameron's pledge for an in/out referendum on Europe.

Firstly, this is a hugely dramatic announcement. Not since the 1970s has a British prime minister been willing to hold such a referendum on the EU. It is a historic moment.

Secondly, an in/out EU referendum will happen if there is a Conservative majority after the next election.

Serious renegotiation will begin shortly and legislation will be drafted before the next election. Legislation for the referendum will be published within weeks of the General Election.

Moreover, there is already legislation passed - which I voted for - that guarantees there will be a referendum on the EU if there is any further transfer of power from Britain to the EU.

I have a passionate belief in democracy. No-one in Britain under the age of 55 has ever had the opportunity to vote on our relationship with Europe. That is why it is right to give people a say, in a national vote, about whether they want to be in or out.

For those who want a referendum right now, it is worth noting that the Conservatives do not have a majority of MPs to get it through Parliament. At present, Labour and Liberal Democrats are against a referendum. They do not want to give people a say. That is why a vote will only happen if there is a Conservative majority after the next election.

If Mr Cameron stays in Downing Street there will be a referendum by 2017, asking the public if they support the renegotiated membership of the EU or should Britain leave the EU altogether. The status quo will not be an option.

I have been pressing the Government to do even more to cut taxes for Harlow people by bringing back the 'starter' rate of income tax at 10p.

In his final act as Chancellor of the Exchequer, Gordon Brown scrapped the 10p band. Overnight, this increased Harlow residents' tax bill by £232 annually, pushing the poorest workers even further away from a living wage.

The Government have already cut taxes for lower earners, taking two million people out of tax altogether and cutting income tax for more than 20 million people. Because of the Chancellor's measures, no-one now pays income tax unless they earn over £9,400 a year.

Many small firms cannot afford to pay higher salaries. That's why I am urging the Prime Minister to focus on lifting the burden of taxes off people on ordinary earnings.

This would be both popular and symbolic of this Government's mission to repair our economy. Most importantly, a 10p income tax rate would be socially just, helping lowest earners the most.

Tragic end to police search for missing Ed

By DAVID COSGROVE
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

POLICE have called off their search for missing partygoer Ed Gillespie after a body was recovered from the water at Roydon Marina Village at the weekend.

Mr Gillespie (38) had not been seen since attending a Christmas party at Henderson's Bar and Grill in the marina on December 21.

Police were called when a boater reported seeing a body at about 10.40am on Saturday.

Although the body had not been formally identified as the Star went to press yesterday (Wednesday), Essex Police said the search for Mr Gillespie had been halted.

Detective Chief Inspector Stuart Hooper said: "We have suspended our search for Ed and his family has been informed of this discovery. Our thoughts and prayers are with them at this very distressing time."

"We would like to place on the record our thanks to everyone who has assisted us in our search and are sorry that the news we have is so sad."

Chris Bartlett, a friend of Mr Gillespie, said: "This is the news that we've been dreading but almost expecting at the same time. Saturday was a very sad day for all of Ed's friends and family."

"Not knowing must have been absolutely awful for his family. Now they have a chance for closure and the grieving process can start properly."

Mr Bartlett paid tribute to his friend, who lived in Luton and worked for health and safety company Bureau Veritas in Harlow.

He said: "Ed was just a lovely, lovely bloke and he touched far more people than he probably even realised. He was brilliant company and had many friends."

"He enjoyed clubbing and loved his progressive house music. Apparently he had been getting into cooking recently as well."

"Overall, Ed was just a great guy and it's hard to even think of anything negative about him."

He added: "I would like to SEARCHING: Above, a police team at work in the days after Mr Gillespie, left, was reported missing from Roydon Marina Village. Below, floral tributes placed near the spot where he was last seen thank all the police for their efforts over the weeks and to all the people at the marina. Also, we'd like to thank the people of Roydon for keeping an eye out and helping check the waterways."

Mr Gillespie had booked to stay in a chalet near Henderson's bar after the party but his bed had not been slept in and his belongings were still in his room.

The alarm was raised by relatives when he failed to return home after the weekend.

His glasses were found near the marina on Friday December 28, raising fresh hope that he would be found alive. Family and friends have been posting appeals for information on social networking sites in a bid to discover what had happened to him.

Police carried out searches in the River Stort, river banks, the hotel and its grounds in an attempt to find the missing partygoer.

Poundland reopens after refurbishment

THE new-look Poundworld store in Harlow town centre reopens at 10am tomorrow (Friday).

The store in College Square, which first opened last May, has been increased in size from 5,000 sq.ft. to 8,000 sq.ft and now stocks more than 7,000 items.

MUDDY paws were much in evidence as scores of dog owners took the lead in St Clare Hospice's first fundraising event of the year.

A group of 240 people and 80 dogs set off on the 5km Winter Walkies trek across fields surrounding the Hastingwood hospice on Sunday.

Dogs claim the wagging rights in a sponsored 'walkies' for hospice

By the time they had finished they had raised £7,000, enough to fund a week's care for two patients at St Clare's inpatient unit.

"It was lovely to see so many people and their dogs turn out on a cold but beautiful Sunday morning and we're so pleased to have raised more than last year," said hospice fundraiser Grace Clutton. "Thanks must also go to our volunteers for having the hot drinks and snacks ready on our return!"

Police and fire unions critical of ambulance response times

UNIONS representing police officers and firefighters have joined the criticism of ambulance response times.

Some members of the Essex Police Federation claim officers were having to take patients to hospital on a "daily basis", while over the border in Hertfordshire the union said delays in professional ambulance crews attending 999 emergencies had become a concern.

Although the scale of the problem across the region is unclear, the Fire Brigades Union said on Monday it shared the concerns of police officers.

The East of England Ambulance Service NHS Trust - which is responsible for six counties including Essex and Hertfordshire - is expected to arrive at the scene of 95 per cent of calls that require attendance within 19 minutes, irrespective of location.

It has drawn up plans to save £50m over five years, leading to claims by paramedics that cutbacks were having an affect on frontline services and were putting lives at risk.

Sources have said that the trust was meeting targets only by sending paramedic cars that cannot transport patients.

Neal Alston, chairman of Hertfordshire Police Federation, said officers had been taking patients to hospital a "couple of times a month" and found themselves waiting "inordinate lengths of time" on a daily basis.

By Star Reporter

"We are there to help people but officers could end up answering for the failures of another service," he said. "However, in exceptional circumstances in cases of medical emergency, police transport could be used as a last resort."

Essex Police said it did not know how often its own officers had driven patients to hospital. "Ordinarily, officers should not carry civilian passengers to hospital in a police-owned vehicle," said a spokesman.

Keith Handscomb, spokesman for the East Anglia branch of the Fire Brigades Union, said: "The concerns of the police come as no surprise to us. Fire crews tell us they, and casualties, are waiting longer and longer for the arrival of paramedics and ambulances."

"When a paramedic does arrive they are often on their own in a car or on a motorbike and are unable to take seriously injured casualties to hospital."

Mr Handscomb added: "Fire officers tell us of their desperate frustration at being told to wait in line when chasing up emergency requests for the attendance of an ambulance. Sometimes they are told the ambulance sent to their emergency has been redirected to another call due to there being no other ambulance available.

"Paramedic colleagues have told us privately about their concerns but they are afraid to speak out."

"Something needs to be done, but looking for a sticking plaster to treat a gaping wound is not the answer. For those who find themselves in medical emergencies, this is a matter of life and death importance."

A spokesman for the East of England Ambulance Service said incidents of police taking patients to hospital because of late or unavailable ambulances were not logged, although it was noted on logs if a call-out was cancelled.

He added: "We recognise the need for back-up time improvements and have already revealed plans to address this by putting in place a raft of measures including 140 new frontline staff, better rotas and liaising with hospitals to reduce handover times."

"The official ambulance union Unison has been consulted throughout this process."

The ambulance service's board was told in November that complaints about delays were a "key theme" of all grievances. Of 144 complaints received in October, more than half (81) were about delays.

SIR, I live along Southern Way and have brought to the attention of the police over the past 18 months the problem of excessive noise, especially late at night, from vehicles which, by their sound, are fitted with large or big bore exhausts.

Big bore and sports exhaust systems are usually fitted to increase the sound emitted and this contravenes the type approval of the vehicle, which is an offence.

It is not an offence to sell these exhaust systems but it is an offence to fit one to your vehicle and drive it on a public road. The fact they may have passed an MOT test is irrelevant as this only checks for exhaust gasses and emission legislation compliance.

Essex Police are currently issuing some areas with audio analysers which can measure exhaust noise output, as vehicle noise levels should not exceed 82 decibels. I am writing to the police regarding their deployment in Harlow.

However, this is not an offence calling for detective work. The offenders can be identified. They want to be noticed. They want to be heard. That's their intent. The question is whether the police are willing to confront it.

When brought to their notice, they will deal with individual cases. However, this growing problem calls for an overall strategy on their part and on the part of the local authorities.

We waited hour-and-a-half for an ambulance to arrive

SIR, There have been several reports lately of injured people waiting excessively long times for an ambulance to arrive.

On Sunday I had first-hand experience of this when my wife had the misfortune to fall heavily on her back on very wet, cold muddy grass in the Upper Meelines area.

Some local residents called for an ambulance and after 35 minutes a paramedic arrived, by which time my wife, who was in considerable pain, was lying in standing water and was unable to move. The paramedic, who was based in Welwyn Garden City, was unable to administer sufficient pain relief and requested urgent assistance, only to be told there were no ambulances available in this area!

Thirty minutes later another paramedic arrived who was qualified to administer morphine. Although my wife's pain was eased somewhat, she still could not be moved and remained lying in the freezing mud.

Finally, 20 minutes later, an ambulance arrived and my wife was able to be moved and taken to hospital.

When I questioned why it had taken almost one-and-a-half hours for an ambulance to arrive I was told there were insufficient resources due to cuts. Changes soon to be introduced would, in fact, worsen the situation. Maybe our MP should be looking into the state of our ambulance service rather than worrying about tax on petrol.

Finally, can I thank the local residents who kindly supplied blankets for my wife and especially one young lady who gave up her own coat.

John Murrell

They are doing their best to mitigate effects of cuts

SIR, John Wake responds to my last letter with more personal abuse rather than engaging in the constructive dialogue I appealed for ('Labour should defend the working classes', January 24).

It is very easy to be radical when you have no responsibility and are not subject to possibly serious personal consequences.

He also completely distorts what I wrote. I did not apologise on behalf of councillors. I simply tried to explain their legal position in our present system of local government. That system may be fundamentally flawed, but that is not the current issue – councillors have no choice but to work within it.

Local authorities are not autonomous bodies, they are creations of statute and their powers are defined by statute. Most of their finance comes from the government and he who pays the piper calls the tune.

Elected councillors introduce an element of democracy but it is limited. That is no reason for dismissing it out of hand or for slandering councillors who are doing their best in almost impossible circumstances. It is a reason for using it where possible and understanding those limitations where it is not.

It's not hard to identify decibel-busting drivers

In present circumstances that means doing their best to mitigate the effects of Government cuts while maintaining essential services.

Mr Wake quotes the Poplar rates rebellion of 1921, which was undoubtedly a great victory. But he fails to note that in 92 years this is the only such action that can truly be deemed successful. The idea that little Harlow can take on the might of the Government in 2013 is just ludicrous, and it is certainly not for Mr Wake or me to tell councillors that they must jeopardise their livelihood for a futile gesture.

I have no idea who Mr Wake thinks are my "New Labour heroes" and I resent the implication. I have never been into hero worship, New Labour or otherwise. I am strongly opposed to the Government cuts and highly critical of the current Labour leadership's inadequate response to them. There are still too many vestiges of what should be completely discredited neo-liberal economic theory in their policies, but that again opens up another huge debate which will continue until the next election and beyond.

The longer this Government remains in power, the greater will be the damage done to our society and the harder will be the recovery. I imagine Mr Wake would even agree with me on this.

Finally, other correspondents on the subject of Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice are more constructive. John Solomon (Letters, January 17) appeals for negotiation and I would echo that, though it is very late in the day. I certainly agree with Dennis Nadin (Letters, January 24) that better political education is needed.

Council should be seeking to recover expenses cash

SIR, Councillor Peter Martin, the Conservative leader of Essex County Council, says there will be no further investigation of the £287,000 expense claims by Lord Hanningfield that financed many luxury holidays and flights.

At least £20,000 of this sum came from Harlow Council taxpayers.

Councillor Mark Wilkinson, leader of Harlow Council, is quoted in the Star on October 18 as saying: "We have a duty to protect taxpayers' money".

So surely the council must now seek to recover this amount from Lord Hanningfield for the Harlow monies he illegally spent.

We're working hard to find jobs for our young people

SIR, As we begin this new year, many young people in Essex are still without work. The headline rate of unemployment has thankfully come down recently, but official estimates suggest it could go up again over the next year.

It's a tough time for young people across the whole of the UK. The Prince's Trust Youth Index has revealed that one in 10 young people in Essex feel they cannot cope with day-to-day life. Tellingly, the young unemployed are significantly more likely to feel this way.

Here in Essex we are becoming increasingly concerned about the number of young, long-term unemployed. Indeed, the number of 16-24 year-olds claiming Jobseekers Allowance for more than six months in Essex has more than tripled since before the recession.

Many young people who come to our youth charity for help report feelings of isolation, depression and anxiety due to being out of work. Quite simply, we cannot afford to put them on hold for another year.

There is much to do in 2013 to guide the most vulnerable young people in Essex into jobs but, working with employers, agencies and local government, we can increase the number of young lives we change.

Recycle old mobile phones and help cancer research

SIR, Many of your readers will have received new mobile phones for Christmas, leaving them wondering what to do with their old devices.

Rather than putting them in a drawer never to be used again, World Cancer Research Fund is offering the perfect solution for redundant and out-of-date devices – its Recycle for Research scheme.

This gives unwanted mobile phones and other items such as PDAs a new lease of life and raises funds for the charity's vital research and education programmes.

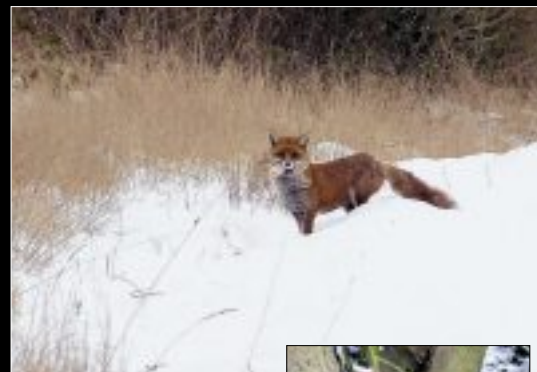

The WCRF scheme also accepts used printer ink and toner cartridges. Most phones are sold on or recycled while cartridges are sent back to the manufacturer for refilling. Both are the most environmentally friendly option.

WCRF can provide freepost envelopes for your devices and freepost labels for larger packages. We can also provide boxes of recycling envelopes for display.

To find out more about Recycle for Research, email recycling@wcrf.org or call 020 7343 4205.

Train company call to support track upgrades

MEN AT WORK: Repairs being carried out on the line at Harlow this weekend (photo: Brian Duffy)

TRAIN operator Greater Anglia is lobbying for stakeholder support in its bid to secure major upgrades to the region's railways.

The franchise holder for services in the Star area wants urgent infrastructure improvements as it seeks to cut journey times for commuters and increase capacity across its network.

Greater Anglia has already written to over 200 regional stakeholders urging them to contact the Office of Rail Regulation, the Department for Transport and Network Rail to back its campaign for key upgrades to lines including the West Anglia route, which links Liverpool Street to Cambridge via Harlow and Sawbridgeworth.

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Crucially, Greater Anglia wants the third track from Stratford extended to Angel Road and Brimsdown in a bid to ease congestion on the West Anglia route and cut the average journey time from Stansted Airport to the capital to just 30 minutes.

Managing director Ruud Haket said: "At Greater Anglia we are passionate about delivering a better and continuously improving rail service for East Anglia."

"We are already doing what we can in the short term to upgrade services and are already making real progress in terms of punctuality and reducing the amount of disruptive weekend engineering work.

"But this is a vital chance for us all to try and secure the additional infrastructure enhancements on the GEM and West Anglia routes we all wish to see, sooner rather than later – to the benefit of customers, communities and the economy across our region."

"We will be responding to the ORR's consultation and proposing that a commitment to the delivery of these key improvements by 2019 is included in the final approved Strategic Business Plan agreed by the ORR later in 2013."

"We encourage stakeholders across East Anglia to do the same, so collectively we can fulfil the aims set out in the East Anglian Rail Prospectus."

MP presses for return of 10p tax band to help the low paid

THE Government is being urged by Harlow MP Robert Halfon to restore the 10p basic rate of income tax to help Harlow's minimum wage workers.

Speaking in the House of Commons, Mr Halfon pressed for the tariff, which was abolished by Labour in 2008, to be reinstated so families on low income could earn closer to the Living Wage.

He argued that when the top rate of tax falls from 50p to 45p in April, the extra revenue generated should be put towards restoring the 10p tax band for those earning between £9,205-£12,000, which would mean low income workers would keep about £280 more in their pay packets each year.

"Now more than ever, this Government must show that tax-cutting is a moral creed that is about lifting Harlow workers on low incomes out of poverty and creating jobs for the unemployed," he said,

Arguing that there was a strong case in favour of the move, he added: "Not everyone gets tax credits and small firms cannot afford to pay the living wage. Along with cutting fuel duty, restoring the 10p rate would be the fastest way of keeping more cash in the pockets of Harlow workers."

"We need a solution for everyone, not just the lucky few."

His calls for reform follow a letter-writing campaign by CutTaxTo10p.com, a website Mr Halfon founded. So far, 600 people across the country have sent letters to their MPs calling for change.

Following Mr Halfon's address, treasury minister David Gauke said his first goal was raising the personal tax-free allowance to £10,000, but he would not rule out restoring the 10p tax band when the economy had recovered from the recession.

Safe stolen by burglars

BURGLARS have stolen cash and jewellery from a house in Harlow.

They smashed through rear patio windows at the property in Upper Park between 3-6pm on Friday.

After searching the house they stole a cream-coloured safe containing the money and jewellery including rings, bangles and necklaces.

Police have appealed to anyone who saw people acting suspiciously in the area at that time to officer DC Georgette Beckett at Harlow police station on 101.

New police chief calls for tax increase

ESSEX Police and Crime Commissioner Nick Alston is calling for an increase in council tax as he warned of the "stark" financial challenges he faces preparing his first budget for the county force.

Mr Alston, who was elected to the position in November, said he would be irresponsible if he did not ask for a 3.5 per cent increase – or around 40p a month – from households to fight crime. This would add an extra £4.77 per year for a Band D council tax payer.

"I've been looking very closely at the funding both of Essex Police and of the partner agencies and grassroots initiatives involved in keeping our communities safe," he said. "The financial position I have discovered is even more challenging than I suspected when taking office just over two months ago."

He said the force was about to enter the third year of a four-year programme to save £42m.

"The funding of police forces comes from two main sources: national government grant and council tax, of which a small portion goes directly to the police. Between 2011/12 and 2014/15, the national government grant to police forces will reduce by 20 per cent in real terms.

"The simple truth is that the amount of council tax we each pay to fund policing services in our county is the lowest in the country."

He said he was confident the force was efficient and well run, with 90 per cent of officers deployed on the front-line. "Compared with the levels of 2010, Essex Police will soon have lost 875 posts – 353 police officers, 112 police community support officers and 410 police staff.

"It is also the case that the four-year plan agreed for Essex Police to meet over £42m in budget cuts included a 2.5 per cent increase in the portion of council tax paid to fund policing in both 2013-14 and 2014-15.

"If we, the people of Essex, paid the equivalent to the national average for policing from council tax, it would fund 470 extra police officers."

He warned there was a risk that any further cuts in police numbers would make the county more vulnerable to crime, which is why he was seeking a 3.5 per cent increase in the portion of council tax used to fund policing and community safety.

"In real terms I am asking for an extra 40p a month, just over a penny a day, to fund our police force and crime reduction work," he said.

NICK ALSTON

Views sought on the future of fire service

FIRE chiefs in Essex have launched a 12-week consultation to give the public a chance to say how they want to see the county's fire and rescue service developed over the next three years.

The brigade has published an Integrated Risk Management Plan detailing proposed improvements to public safety, reducing the number of fires and cutting road accidents.

It also provides details of targets and performance standards to drive continuing improvement.

Acting chief fire officer Gary Fleming said: "We are confident that our community risk management arrangements in Essex are robust and meet the current risk profile of the county. Therefore, we are not putting forward new or controversial recommendations within this IRMP.

"Instead, we have chosen to set out in details the resources we have to deal with the risks we have identified in Essex and also how we manage them with our prevention and protection strategies and initiatives.

"We are asking key questions and will use the responses we get from this consultation to feed into the service's long-term plans and future proposals.

To take part in the consultation, visit www.essex-fire.gov.uk or email consultation@essex-fire.gov.uk. The deadline for responses is April 15.

Registering for an appointment

A NEW service providing greater choice in the way people can access birth and death registration services has been launched by Essex County Council.

Anyone wishing to book an appointment can now do so online seven days a week via the birth, ceremonies and deaths sections of the council's website at www.essex.gov.uk.

It is part of a wider programme to improve the availability of online services, including pothole reporting, adult learning course bookings and school catchment area searches.

Depot worker loses claim of victimisation

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsexnews.co.uk

A WAREHOUSE worker who took on supermarket giant Sainsbury's alleging sexual harassment and victimisation has had her claims dismissed.

Agency employee Katarzyna Klacza, of Pittman's Field, Harlow, claimed she was a victim of discrimination when she failed to get three internal jobs at the supermarket chain's depot in Rye Park, Hoddesdon.

Ms Klacza (26) believed she was unsuccessful because she had made an allegation of sexual harassment against a team manager. She also alleged that she had been the victim of sexual discrimination when applying for one of the posts as only men were successful.

But after a three-day hearing at Watford Employment Tribunal, chairman Richard Baty dismissed her case.

He ruled that none of the three managers making the appointments were aware of the sexual harassment complaint at the time. He also concluded that two of her claims had not been made in time.

However, Mr Baty and his two colleagues ruled that the allegations by Ms Klacza had not been made in bad faith.

Ms Klacza secured a job as a picker filling crates at the depot in March 2009 through an employment agency. Two years later she unsuccessfully applied for a Sainsbury's-only staff post and in May 2011 she told a shift manager that a member of staff was sexually harassing her.

Later she and another colleague complained to their agency manager about the sexual harassment.

In her evidence, Ms Klacza said the man who was the subject of her complaint kept asking her out and requesting her phone number, moved her working area so he could watch her, put her on heavy lifting when she rejected him and asked to see a tattoo on her lower back.

The tribunal found that that complaint had not been passed on to Sainsbury's, which said that Ms Klacza had never officially lodged a complaint of sexual harassment.

However, the supermarket investigated a similar informal complaint against the man from his former girlfriend, who said she wanted management to be aware he was being suggestive to other girls and named them.

Both Ms Klacza and the other woman were interviewed but Ms Klacza told the tribunal she was never informed that was only in connection with the ex-girlfriend's separate complaint.

She started her employment tribunal action in August 2012 seeking compensation for injury to feelings and loss of pay.

David Stockwell, contracts manager for Sainsbury's, said the sex of applicants did not enter his decision making, adding that the depot was predominantly a male environment so he was not surprised at the outcome of the selection process.

The company stated that one position was only open to Sainsbury's employees and that in the other two Ms Klacza failed the selection criteria based on work performance and her absence record.

Speaking after the hearing, Ms Klacza said she was glad she had brought the case as she wanted to bring out into the open what had happened.

"I will not give up," she added. "I still fight for my rights there."

Rafal Zator, who represented Ms Klacza during the hearing, said: "It didn't matter if we won or lost. We want Sainsbury's next time to take the proper consequences against managers, such as formal disciplinary action."

Caron's queen of the shakes

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A TAKEAWAY with a difference is hoping to shake things up in the battle between Harlow's booming fast food outlets.

Quirky new eatery Shake, Wrap & Roll is the town's first dedicated shake bar offering a mouthwatering choice of hot and cold milkshakes.

And owner Caron Lakey-Bolwerk hopes her new venture's distinctly American feel will help it stand out from the crowd.

"It's certainly different from your average sandwich shop," she said. "People always want more choice, and I've long thought Harlow was crying out for a place that offers something a little different from burgers, kebabs, curries and pizzas. "Our motto is 'It's not fast food, it's fresh food fast' and I think anyone who pays us a visit will appreciate the quality of our food and drink. I like to think of us as one of the town's hidden treasures."

Based at The Service Bays in The Stow, it sells wraps, rolls, baguettes, bagels and paninis alongside a staggering 150 different flavours of milkshake, making it a one-stop-shop for a tasty lunch or evening snack.

Currently open from 9am-9pm

Monday to Saturday, the shop has a 5-star food hygiene rating and recently won approval from Harlow Council to open until 11pm in the summer months, starting in May.

"Although we get a lot of lunchtime trade, the milkshakes are the real stars and people keep coming back time and time again for them," said Caron. "As a result, we find most of our customers like to come in on an evening and pick up their favourite shake. So I'm glad we're now able to open later during the summer."

Caron has also branched out into catering for business meetings, parties and other special events, offering a free delivery service on all orders over £8 in the Harlow area.

"We can offer a wide variety of food arrangements to satisfy many needs," she explained. "Choices range from set platters to deluxe customised arrangements, and we cater for weddings, funerals, family parties, business lunches and children's parties."

She added: "I'm thrilled at the response we've had since opening. Hopefully we can continue to build on our early success and make Harlow the milkshake capital of Essex!"

Grants available for energy saving projects

SMALL businesses across Essex are being urged to apply for European Regional Development Fund support to help them boost profits by reducing their energy consumption.

With £3.2m to invest, the Low Carbon KEEP programme managed by Anglia Ruskin University has already supported more than 35 successful projects, providing £675,000 of funding to small and medium-sized enterprises.

Grants are available to cover up to 40 per cent of the major costs of energy-saving initiatives, which can range from the development of new, energy-efficient products to introducing measures to reduce carbon emissions.

In addition, the Low Carbon KEEP capital grant scheme allows SMEs to recoup 40 per cent of the cost of purchasing capital items – including essential equipment or software – which are fundamental to the success of the project.

For more information visit www.anglia.ac.uk/lowcarbon.

Adam's business role

A NEW area business manager for Barclays banks across Essex has been appointed.

Adam White, a former regional business manager looking after start-ups, has worked for Barclays for five years. He will manage a team of 15 business managers across both counties.

Mr White, who will be based at the Harlow branch in The Water Gardens, said: "I have extensive experience of working with business customers across a wide spectrum of sectors and look forward to visiting customers with my team at their premises so we can fully understand how we can support them to grow their businesses."

Security firm boss delighted by the outcome of jobs fair

A SECURITY firm is reaping the benefits of last year's inaugural Harlow Jobs Fair after recruiting a key new member of staff as a direct result of the networking event.

Bosses at GuardHome Ltd were able to find their perfect candidate at last October's event, which was organised by Harlow MP Robert Halfon and saw more than 1,500 jobseekers flock to Harlow Leisurezone.

Managing director Eric Chorley said: "We were pleasantly surprised by the number of high calibre candidates we met at the job fair. "I was impressed with the way Mr Halfon made such a determined effort to make the jobs fair happen and we went along to give it our support, not necessarily expecting to find anyone."

"We actually needed someone who could start part-time and then switch to full-time in due course. The candidate we have taken on – and there may be others – is currently undergoing our rigorous security clearance process but should be able to start soon."

The firm undertakes the professional installation and maintenance of wireless burglar alarms systems and CCTV.

Mr Chorley added: "It's really good to see our local MP doing something to help the unemployed. If only the councils in Essex had a similar attitude it would help."

"Currently, local businesses are put at a disadvantage at getting council contracts because of the lack of a level playing field in procurement which means there are fewer local jobs on offer than there might otherwise be."

Welcome back

Olympic cycling champion Laura invited to open PAH's new £1m baby care unit

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

SHE is now a household name after winning double gold at the London Olympics, but things could have turned out very differently for world-beating cyclist Laura Trott.

Born prematurely at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital almost 21 years ago, Laura spent her first few days in the neonatal intensive care unit after suffering a collapsed lung.

And on Saturday the reigning European, World and Olympic champion, who lives in Cheshunt, was invited back to PAH to officially open the hospital's new NICU.

"I am thrilled to be a part of this momentous opening," she said. "The work the staff do here is amazing."

"The old unit was actually quite a lot smaller, so it's great that they've got the opportunity to open a new one."

"It's nice to have it a lot more relaxed and settled. When I first went into the [new] intensive care unit it was just so quiet and calm. I didn't expect that."

Since November 2011 the

hospital has spent more than £1m rebuilding and updating the unit to provide the best specialist intensive care for babies born with health problems.

Offering parents greater comfort and privacy and with almost 300 square metres of extra space for life-saving technology, the expanded unit will care for more than 400 newborns every year.

Much of the facility's new equipment has been purchased using money donated to the hospital's NICU Appeal.

Head of children's services Deborah Twist said she had been "overwhelmed" by the public's generosity.

"They have raised around £80,000 in donations which has made a massive difference to the life-saving equipment we could buy for the unit," she said.

"It is wonderful to have such a fantastically equipped unit so that the staff can deliver care in the best setting."

Community united by a family tragedy

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

LAST week's photo of two young ladies dancing the can-can at the Key Glass social club brought memories flooding back for one reader.

Michael Caswell, of Parsonage Leys, Harlow, got in touch after recognising his mum, Elsie, in the picture submitted by former social secretary Bert Morton.

"I was surprised and pleased to see this as the lady holding down her skirt is my mum, Elsie Caswell," said Michael. "I know this as I have the same photo, together with three others taken probably at the same dance, including one of a crowd doing the Conga!"

"The band members are The Mitchellaires, who were one of the subjects in the Nostalgia section last year. My dad, Phil Caswell, used to play with them although I can't see him in the photo this time. Perhaps he is out of shot."

"As you can see, mum loved her social life and The Keyhole was one of the venues where workers at Key Glass could socialise."

According to Michael, the photo summed up the social whirl of the new town in the 1950s, where a cast iron community spirit had been transported from post-war London.

"Many of the workers were incomers from the slums of London," he said. "In 1953 at the age of four, I came to Harlow with my parents from Canning Town, and the camaraderie of post-war London came with the people."

"I vaguely seem to remember that when we lived in Perry Spring in the mid 1950s there was a community hall and the social side was there amongst the local community."

He recalled one poignant example of the community pulling together to help a family overcome a tragedy.

"I will always remember when the young father of one family in our street died, leaving a young widow with six young children including a baby," he said. "The neighbours rallied around and various families, including my mum and dad, took the children into their homes while the widow sorted her life out. Would that still happen nowadays?"

Friendly peacock came to such a grisly end...

IF you lived in Collins Meadow back in the 1980s, chances are you will have counted this feathered friend among your neighbours.

According to regular Nostalgia contributor Ron Bill, the majestic peacock was a regular house guest for many living in the street and could often be seen strolling through the neighbourhood.

"He was remarkably friendly and completely unafraid of humans," Ron recalled. "He used to come and visit us regularly and would sometimes even treat us to a display of his dazzling plumage."

"We, along with many of our neighbours, used to feed him and he obviously enjoyed the attention."

But it seems the elegant bird's early-morning mating calls became too much for someone to bear.

Early one morning the peacock was found dead on the roadside, apparently the victim of an air rifle-wielding sharpshooter with a grudge.

"It was a huge shock to the neighbourhood, especially as most people had become quite taken with our unusual visitor," said Ron.

"It was really quite upsetting, as whoever shot the poor thing dead had just left it on the road for all to see."

He added: "I'll always fondly remember our feathered friend, as I'm sure most living in Collins Meadow at the time will. It's just such a terrible shame that he came to such a tragic, thoughtless end."

HWRA kicked out of advice centre

TRUSTEES fighting to save Harlow's Welfare Rights & Advice service from closure have been left reeling after the council this week took possession of the advice centre building.

The authority entered the East Gate premises late on Monday night to change the locks, effectively bringing an end to HWRA's 34-year tenancy.

The eviction comes just a week after the charity's trustees launched legal proceedings against the council to seek a judicial review of the authority's decision to terminate its contract in a row over unpaid debts.

Speaking to the Star yesterday (Wednesday), chairman of trustees Les Coben said: "We are shocked at this latest action by the council.

"We were given to understand that no action would be taken while mediation was being explored and a judicial review was still outstanding.

He added: "HWRA is still pursuing all possible legal avenues to retain a specialist advice service for the people of Harlow.

"We remain hopeful that the council will

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

enter into mediation to avoid unnecessary costs to council taxpayers and to the charity itself."

But council leader Mark Wilkinson insisted the authority had acted entirely within the constraints of the law – and said he hoped the council could now speed up its search for a new service provider.

He added: "I sincerely hope that the council can now resolve any outstanding issues associated with HWRA and be able to move forwards to secure alternative service provision for the people of Harlow."

The repossession has also left domestic abuse charity Safer Places without access to the building, part of which had been sublet to the organisation by HWRA in an agreement the council claimed was unlawful.

A council spokesman said: "Unfortunately HWRA had unlawfully sublet part of the premises to Safer Places which, through no fault of its own, can no longer use the offices leased to them.

"The council has worked with Safer Places to ensure that its valuable work will continue by securing alternative arrangements for it inside Harlow Civic Centre."

But Mr Coben refuted the council's allegation, claiming the council had been well aware of the subletting agreement.

He said: "The council spokesman's statement that HWRA was illegally subletting part of the Advice Centre to Safer Places is completely incorrect. He has clearly been misinformed."

A day of celebration for lovers all over the world

CELEBRATING the memory of Saint Valentine – the Christian martyr who gave his life in the honour of love – Saint Valentine's Day is marked all over the world on February 14.

In 269 AD, King Claudius decapitated Saint Valentine for performing illegal marriages of Roman soldiers, who were apparently barred from marrying.

Almost two centuries later in 496 AD, Pope Gelasius resolved to honour this sacrifice by observing February 14 as a feast day, without little thought or idea of the impact it would have on the entire world 1,500 years later.

Today, Valentine has come to be regarded as the patron saint of love and Valentine's Day a day of celebration for lovers.

Valentine greetings were popular as far back as the Middle Ages when lovers spoke or sang their good wishes, but written Valentines began to appear after 1400.

The oldest Valentine in existence was made in the 1400s and is in the British Museum. Paper Valentines were especially popular in England and in the early 1800s Valentines began to be assembled in factories.

Today it's not just cards that are exchanged – flowers, chocolates, jewellery and anything heart-shaped are among the more traditional gifts to mark the day.

Restaurants are usually packed out as couples flock to enjoy special celebrations.

In our local area we're lucky to have some fabulous places to go and inspiring ideas for Valentine gifts.

Treat your loved ones this Valentine's Day and celebrate in style.

Dolphin's plea for help

A DESPERATE dolphin sought help from a diver after getting tangled up in a fishing line in the waters of Hawaii.

The incredible encounter, which was captured on video, saw diver Keller Laros spend eight minutes tending to the stricken mammal.

Mr Laros was leading a group of snorkellers when the bottlenose dolphin, which had a hook lodged in its pectoral fin, squealed out for help and started to swim in their direction.

"The way he came right up and pushed himself into me there was no question this dolphin was there for help," Mr Laros told reporters.

The dolphin allowed him to help him break free of the line, waiting patiently and calmly while Mr Laros worked to remove it.

"I was trying to unwrap it," he said. "I got the line fishing hook out of the pectoral fin. There was a line coming out of his mouth, but it was wrapped around his pectoral fin so tight and he had cuts both front and back.

"I was worried if I tugged on it whether it might hurt him more. In the end I was able to cut the fishing line and unwrap it."

Mr Laros was then able to remove the hook and clip the line but as other divers moved in to help, the dolphin swam off.

Mr Laros, who works as a professional scuba instructor, added: "I've had bottlenose dolphins approach me a lot of times and they are really smart animals."

Raid police seize haul of cannabis

SEVERAL mature cannabis plants with a street value of around £2,000 were discovered by police in a house in Harlow on Monday.

A 32-year-old man was arrested following the raid at Hornbeams. He was later charged with cannabis production and released on bail to appear in court.

Officers dismantled the equipment which was being used to grow the plants.

Inspector Anna Granger, of Essex Police, said: "The cannabis factory contained within the home was destroyed before the cannabis was circulated and distributed within the community."

"This is one of a number of cannabis productions to have been destroyed by police, sending out a clear message to criminals who operate in Harlow."

"Police will continue to work within the community to prosecute any offenders who grow or attempt to grow cannabis."

Know 4 sure

When it comes to cancer, there are 4 key signs to look out for:

- 1. Unexplained blood that doesn't come from an obvious injury
- 2. An unexplained lump
- 3. Unexplained weight loss, which feels significant to you
- 4. Any type of unexplained pain that doesn't go away

Chances are it's nothing serious, but finding it early makes it more treatable. So if you notice any of these signs, tell your doctor.

Your stars with Patrick Arundell to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
The Leo Full Moon resonates strongly into this week. With Saturn broadly at a right angle, this suggests your choices in life, love and socially need to be governed by an awareness of how this pans out emotionally or impacts on those who provide the support structures in your life. Yet Jupiter continues to encourage you to think and believe the best. Call for more news and astral advice...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
That old saying of "speculate to accumulate" comes to mind when thinking of how the Full Moon will interact with Jupiter this week for you. However, if you intend to engage in a partnership, or promote yourself to anyone influential, family issues need consideration too. Handle this right, and you can build some prestigious links. Wrong, and things can fall over. Call me for your in-depth forecast...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
If you are looking for a new, but stable, on-going relationship, the next couple of weeks could prove crucial. Be optimistic about this, and expansion of your hopes in general. The world can open up to you in all sorts of positive ways now, so do try to be as proactive as you possibly can. Legal and publishing situations also look hopeful for you Gemini. Call for more news and astral advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
Someone could spring a wonderful surprise on you. This may stem from a past goodness you have done for them, or perhaps you will decide to investigate a special cause. If you are interested in metaphysical subjects, spirituality or more traditional religions, they can all resonate that much more powerfully, as can different forms of alternative medicine. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
You may find yourself increasingly attuned to possibilities professionally, that lay to further afield. This could even be overseas. Productive partnerships can be forged which transcend cultural differences. In fact, by embracing these, you can grow yourself. You may even find yourself linking with someone romantically this week. Openness can work wonders. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
You may be offered a course of re-training, or attend a seminar. Anything professionally which encourages your career prospects should be carefully considered. You may also be asked to fulfil some kind of public role which is voluntary based or to help to your community. In general, developing co-operative links with experienced people can be really good for you. Call for more news and astral advice...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
You may have a sense from the Full Moon, and its angle with Jupiter, that something really positive can happen for you this week, and you are right Libra. Wherever you want to shine a light on your talents, love or joys, they can all be amplified. The vibration that the planets offer you is so strong, do be resourceful and tune into your true potential. Call your prediction line for more astral advice...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
If you are looking to make progress in the housing market, this week may exceed your expectations. If you have available space at home, you may look to rent out a room or conversely use it to start a small business. If you offer a practical service like hairdressing or teaching languages or music, these too can work really well for you in this way. Call your prediction line for more news and advice...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
Your natural bubblyness and go-getting approach to life are given a boost this week, and this can see you have lots of very upbeat, friendly and uplifting exchanges. If you enjoy using social media, this can be an area which really buzzes, but equally, if you are wanting to write, publish, teach or train you can also flourish. Embrace the opportunity Archer. Call your prediction line for more astral advice...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
If you are keen to improve your sense of security, you can find some excellent money saving tips on an advisory website, or get an expert to do a thorough review of your circumstances. Although you may feel you have got your costs nailed to the floor, some extra value can be achieved. Then again, you may spend money on an energy saving device. Call your prediction line for more astral advice...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
With lucky Jupiter in your sector or romance for some months to come, don't underestimate its benefits this week, as it feeds off the Leo Full Moon. This combination could be especially helpful in bringing someone new into your world, be it romantically or in a business situation. You will feel less blocked about the prospects of moving beyond your comfort zone. Call for more news and advice...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
Someone could very gently tease a sensitive issue into the open this week. This may be something that you are not keen to look at, but once you do, it could actually be a relief that you have. Then again, you may provide support and help to someone who is ill or going through a tough time. However, if so, don't let your own needs get too swept away. Call me for your in-depth forecast...

Performers going head over heels to entertain

By CHRIS MOSS

LEAP into the topsy-turvy world of Ockham's Razor as the gravity-defying theatre company gets the new season at the Playhouse off to a flying start next week.

Following the international sell-out success of award-winning production The Mill, the aerial theatre group return to Harlow on Tuesday with their second full-length show - Not Until We Are Lost.

A thrilling synthesis of circus, dance and mime, the promenade performance will see a five-strong cast of skilled acrobats create jaw-dropping physical theatre in a series of short stories exploring themes of loss and isolation.

And in an innovative twist, the audience will be drawn into the heart of the action like never before as a specially-designed set enables them to view the troupe's spectacular stunts from a variety of different angles and elevations.

A group spokesman explained: "The performance is viewed in new, innovative ways from within a unique set, featuring originally designed aerial structures.

"The images unfold above and around the audience as they journey through the narrative. The aerial sculptures then transform around the audience, creating physically and emotionally affecting environments.

"These shifts in perspective and gravity question how solid, how fixed, the world around us is."

The show opened earlier this month with sold-out performances at the Platform Theatre in Kings Cross as part of The London International Mime Festival, winning an overwhelmingly positive response from audiences and critics alike.

With an original musical score by composer Graham Fitkin - two-time winner at the British Composer Awards - the Harlow performance will also feature a 20-strong choir from the local community put together especially for the show.

● Not Until We Are Lost runs at The Playhouse from Tuesday to Thursday. Performances start at 2pm and 8pm, and tickets cost £13 (£11 concessions) from (01279) 431945 or www.playhouseharlow.com.

Mum's memory lives on in her poems

A GRIEVING daughter has paid a touching tribute to her late mother's flair for the written word by publishing a book of her self-penned poetry.

Julie Turner, who grew up in Harlow but now lives in Clacton-on-Sea, put together the moving collection of verse following the death of her mum, Maureen, pictured below, in March last year.

"I was absolutely devastated to lose my mum; she was my rock and she'd always been there for me," said Julie.

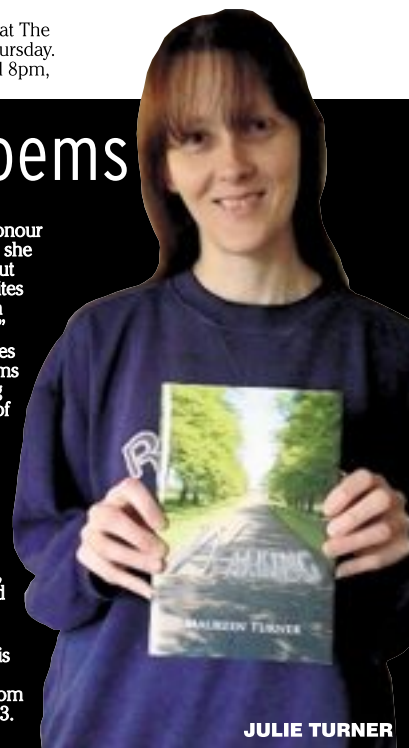

"I wanted to do something to honour her memory. I knew how much she loved writing poetry so I set about picking a selection of my favourites with the idea of publishing them together in their own collection."

The result, titled Walking, features more than 60 of Maureen's poems - including several heart-rending pieces written towards the end of her life.

"My mum had written verse her entire life, often gaining inspiration from one of the long walks she used to take almost every day," said Julie.

"The poems in this collection are obviously very special to me, but I hope other readers will find them equally moving, uplifting and engaging."

● Walking by Maureen Turner is available now in paperback, hardback and e-book formats from Amazon.co.uk, priced from £2.63.

Denzel's on a high as a 'hero' pilot in free fall

WINGING IT: Bruce Greenwood as Charlie Anderson, Denzel Washington as William 'Whip' Whitaker and Don Cheadle as Hugh Lang in Flight

FLIGHT certificate 15, 2h18m

DENZEL Washington soars to a new career high in this emotionally wrought character study of an airplane pilot wrestling with alcohol dependency.

Underpinned by John Gatins' intelligent script, Flight is a provocative drama that refuses to cast judgment on the central character as he repeats past mistakes and attempts to dodge the repercussions of his reckless actions.

Instead, director Robert Zemeckis follows the pilot on a turbulent journey of self-discovery as a major mechanical failure in the air puts his boozy lifestyle under the microscope of public scrutiny. Captain William 'Whip' Whitaker (Washington) wakes in a plush hotel room festooned with discarded bottles and the naked body of last night's conquest – flight attendant Katerina Marquez (Nadine Velazquez).

Swigs of beer set him up for the day and he strides purposefully into the cockpit of his SouthJet flight to Atlanta while holding a bottle of orange juice spiked with vodka. Katerina is already on board, serving passengers alongside experienced colleague Margaret Thomason (Tamara Tunie).

But a routine flight becomes a nightmare when the airplane suddenly loses altitude and hurtles towards the ground at terrifying speed. Whitaker is forced to perform a daredevil manoeuvre to halt the rapid descent before crash-landing in a field.

A subsequent investigation by the National Transportation Safety Board, led by Ellen Block (Melissa Leo), threatens to expose the pilot's alcoholism.

Union rep Charlie Anderson (Bruce Greenwood) and attorney Hugh Lang (Don Cheadle) promise to help him survive the fallout on the proviso that he changes his self-destructive ways. Whitaker agrees to exorcise his demons, supported by a recovering heroine addict called Nicole (Kelly Reilly).

Romance blossoms but while Nicole continues to get her life back in order, he struggles to resist his desires, turning to drug dealer Harling Mays (John Goodman) to take the edge off his anxiety.

Flight boasts a jaw-dropping centrepiece crash sequence that spins an entire airplane through 360 degrees. Zemeckis orchestrates these intense scenes with skill but he is equally interested in quieter moments when Whitaker wrestles with his guilt and attempts to resist the temptations of a hotel mini bar. Washington is riveting as a man in authority who can barely function without liquor. He lays bare insecurities and doesn't resort once to currying audience sympathy. Reilly impresses in a pivotal supporting role and Goodman injects humour as the supplier who knows the perfect cocktail of narcotics to counteract a hangover. Climactic scenes are gripping and we buckle up for a bumpy ride as Whitaker prepares to deliver sworn testimony at the public hearing, potentially glossing over the facts to restore a sheen to his stained reputation.

BULLET TO THE HEAD certificate 15, 1h31m

SYLVESTER Stallone, who will be 67 in July, demonstrates he has no intention of growing old gracefully in this testosterone-fuelled tosh peppered with bone-crunching action sequences that allow the leading man to play to his strengths.

The explosions and splatter promised by the title are disappointingly thin on the ground, leaving us wanting far more than either director Walter Hill or screenwriter Alessandro Camon deliver.

Stallone, pictured right, plays tattooed hitman Jimmy Bobo (Sylvester Stallone) who, along with partner Louis Blanchard (Jon Seda), kill a corrupt ex-cop as instructed.

They celebrate in a New Orleans bar where hulking assassin Keegan (Jason Momoa) stabs Louis and badly injures Jimmy in a furious bathroom brawl.

Hungry for revenge, Jimmy tracks down people who could have betrayed him and Louis. All paths seem to lead to a powerful property developer, Robert Nkomo Borel (Adewale Akinnuoye-Agbaje).

Meanwhile, strait-laced detective Taylor Kwon (Sung Kang), who is out of his Washington DC jurisdiction, arrives in New Orleans to apprehend Jimmy.

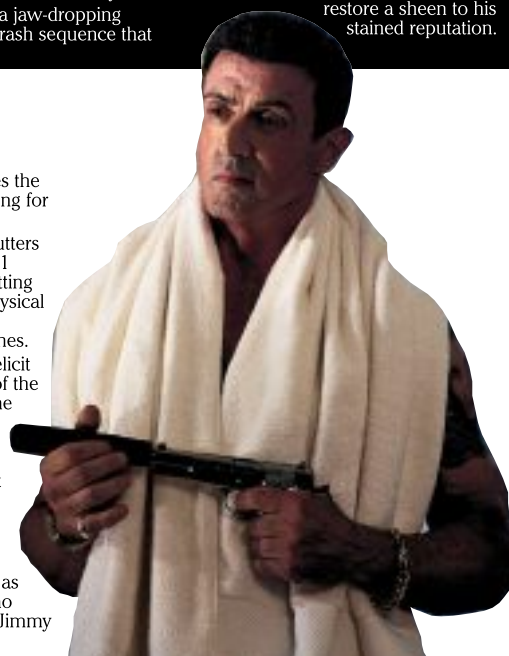

The two men are forced to work together when Jimmy's daughter Lisa (Sarah Shahi) is abducted by Keegan and held hostage in a cavernous warehouse that provides the film with a familiar setting for the final showdown.

Bullet To The Head splutters and wheezes through 91 uninspired minutes, putting Stallone through the physical wringer in well-choreographed skirmishes.

A couple of one-liners elicit a wry smile, but most of the dialogue falls flat and the final act falters in the total absence of any genuine concern from Stallone's hitman about the wellbeing of his beloved daughter.

Kang enjoys a few fist fights, while Christian Slater savours a cameo as a sleazy middleman who discovers that crossing Jimmy comes at a hefty price.

LINCOLN Two months have passed since the re-election of Abraham Lincoln (Daniel Day Lewis), and the president's thoughts turn to the highly contentious slavery bill. Secretary Of State William H Seward (David Strathairn) counsels against the motion, given the current make-up of the House of Representatives. However, Lincoln is adamant that the bill must be passed and enlists William N Bilbo (James Spader) and Colonel Robert Latham (John Hawkes) to procure votes. Meanwhile, Lincoln must also contend with the mood swings of his emotionally fragile wife (Sally Field).

DJANGO UNCHAINED The bullets start flying when two slave merchants meet a German dentist called Dr King Schultz (Christoph Waltz) on the road one night. It turns out that the flamboyant European is also a bounty hunter and Schultz kills the pair in order to release slave Django (Jamie Foxx) from his shackles. Django is valuable because he is the only man who can identify the murderous Brittle brothers. Having been granted his freedom, Django agrees to help Schultz kill the siblings but subsequently learns that his beloved wife Broomhilda (Kerry Washington) has fallen into the clutches of a slippery plantation owner, Calvin Candie (Leonardo DiCaprio). Schultz pledges his allegiance to a suicidal rescue mission.

LES MISERABLES Former convict Valjean (Hugh Jackman) has reinvented himself as a revered factory owner in Montreuil-sur-Mer, where one of his workers – Fantine (Anne Hathaway) – is cruelly cast out when the foreman learns she has an illegitimate daughter, Cosette (Isabelle Allen). Determined to raise the money to keep her child under the roof of villainous Thenardier (Sacha Baron Cohen) and his wife (Helena Bonham Carter), Fantine sells her hair and then her body until Valjean discovers her close to death and agrees to raise Cosette as his own. So the story moves on a further nine years when revolutionary fervour surges through the grimy streets of Paris, inflamed by students Enjolras (Aaron Tveit) and Marius (Eddie Redmayne). The latter falls under the spell of Cosette (now played by Amanda Seyfried), unaware that Thenardier's daughter, Eponeine (Samantha Barks), adores him from afar.

MONSTERS, INC 3D Best friends Sulley and Mike return to the big screen in eye-popping 3D. They are at the top of their game in the child-scaring business, working for the largest scream-processing factory in Monstropolis. Humans are forbidden in the monster world where they are considered a health risk, so when Sulley accidentally brings a human girl named Boo into Monstropolis, all hell breaks loose.

THE IMPOSSIBLE Henry (Ewan McGregor) and Maria (Naomi Watts) arrive in the tropical paradise of Thailand with sons Lucas (Tom Holland), Thomas (Samuel Joslin) and Simon (Oaklee Pendergast). They open Christmas presents on the patio overlooking the sea, unaware of the horror about to engulf them. The following day flocks of terrified birds take to the skies, heralding a wall of water that careens through the complex.

LIFE OF PI (2D only) An inquisitive writer (Rafe Spall) turns up unexpectedly at the door of Pi Patel (Irrfan Khan), having been told his story deserves to be immortalised in print. In flashback, Pi recounts his youth as the son of a zoo owner who decided to sell the family business in Pondicherry and emigrate to Canada with his wife and two boys. A raging storm causes the ship to overturn and young Pi (Suraj Sharma) escapes in a lifeboat along with a zebra, an orang-utan, a hyena and a tiger called Richard Parker.

QUARTET Beecham House, a retirement home for opera singers and musicians, heaves with eccentrics including luvvie Cedric (Michael Gambon), who masterminds the annual fundraising concert attended by staff and wealthy donors. Three of the residents – Reginald (Tom Courtenay), Wilf (Billy Connolly) and Cissy (Pauline Collins) – once performed as part of a celebrated quartet. The unexpected arrival of the group's fourth member, Reg's ex-wife Jean (Maggie Smith), sends shockwaves through the home.

AS January comes to a close, it seems the Government's Funding for Lending scheme is gaining some traction, with mortgage approvals on the rise (up 13 per cent).

According to a recent report from the Bank of England, the scheme has also had a positive effect on unsecured and business lending, all of which helps improve consumer confidence.

The Council of Mortgage Lenders predicts that lending will increase steadily throughout 2013 while mortgage rates are expected to fall a little further during the year. There are already signs of increased levels of competition in the previously stagnant first-time buyer market.

If you're in the market for a mortgage, Moneyfact.co.uk has a selection of the month's best buys which are well worth considering. Here are just a few of the best:

Working In Partnership with your Estate Agent

When the time comes to sell your home it is important to ensure that you entrust the sale to a reputable estate agent if the stress of selling is to be minimised.

However, the most successful sales tend to be those where the seller and agent work hand in hand during the marketing process. Here are some pointers:

Be open with your agent about any problems with the property. Even if these cannot be solved, awareness of an issue could save a sale.

Ensure your agent is properly informed about which fixtures and fittings will be staying/going.

Tell the agent if you have any direct buyer enquiries it can avoid confusion over commission.

Ideally your agent should accompany all viewings, but if you show the buyers round yourself, immediately let your agent know how the viewing went, so he/she can follow-up appropriately.

Keep the house and garden clean and tidy at all times you never know when you might get a short-notice viewing, or interested parties peering over the fence.

Aim to be as flexible as possible over viewing times and completion dates.

Agree to listen constructively to your agent's feedback and recommendations.

As your selling agent, we share your objectives - to achieve the fastest sale at the highest possible price with minimum disruption to your lifestyle. So help us to help you. After all - we're on your side!

Harlow ticks all the boxes when it comes to operating a business

DUE to the increased number of property transactions in the Harlow, Ware and Hertford areas during 2012, Coke Gearing opened their Harlow office in September.

The office provides a base from which to better serve Harlow and its surrounding markets and we have already seen the benefits and continue to grow our market share.

Dealing with mainly agency instructions of leasing, sales and investment sales of industrial stock, we are keen to grow our market share in the other markets of offices and retail properties.

Despite all the doom and gloom in the market, we have experienced continued success with lettings and sales, the most buoyant of the sectors being the smaller industrial/warehouse units of up to 7,500 sq ft.

Transactions included two investment sales on the Moat House Estate and one new letting (all units of around 1,500 sq ft), a sale to an owner-occupier of a 2,500 sq ft unit in Horsecroft Place and a new letting with an option to purchase to an electrical contractor firm in a neighbouring property.

Other transactions include acting on behalf of Teva Pharmaceuticals in acquiring 12,500 sq ft of offices in Field House and advice to clients on the acquisition of the seven-acre Pitney Bowes site for redevelopment.

Harlow certainly ticks all the boxes when it comes to operating a business from this location. Research by Experian has shown the town had the biggest business growth rates between July 2010 and February 2012.

In that time the number of businesses grew by 478, the 6.2 per cent average yearly increase being the highest in the UK. Harlow also saw a 23.5 per cent increase in the number of business start-ups.

The broad range of accommodation Harlow offers is appealing to all sizes and types of business operations, from the older, cheaper 1950s stock up to newer 2000s properties offering modern, smart space for the established high-tech and growing businesses.

Harlow is also well placed geographically with established infrastructure offering good access to the M11, M25, Stansted Airport and central London.

In 2011 Harlow was granted Enterprise Zone status. The 51-hectare zone comprises two sites – 23 hectares at London Road (comprising the former Nortel campus to the south and a greenfield site to the north) and 28 hectares at Templefields North East.

Benefits of the zone include a 100 per cent business rate discount worth up to £275,000 over a five-year period, radically simplified planning approaches in the zone and the installation of superfast broadband.

Coke Gearing is very positive about business growth in Harlow and working to develop our Harlow team.

As well as sales and lettings in all sectors of commercial property, we offer a wide variety of services. As MRICS registered valuers we can provide 'red book' valuations for pension fund, bank security and probate purposes, as well as rental valuations for business sales and other types of valuations.

Additionally, we offer development, investment and acquisition advice and have also been successful with rating appeals in the area.

If you would like to discuss your commercial property needs, please contact Adam Tindall MRICS on (01279) 758758 or email adam@cokegearing.co.uk.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF). Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 - SECTION 14(1)(A) AND THE MOTORWAY TRAFFIC (ENGLAND AND WALES) REGULATIONS 1982 - SECTION 16(2) THE M11 MOTORWAY (JUNCTIONS 7 - 8) (TEMPORARY RESTRICTION AND PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 2013

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Secretary of State for Transport has made an Order on the M11 Motorway in Essex, to enable the installation of replacement Motorway Incident Detection (MIDAS) loops in various lengths of the carriageway and a slip road between Junctions 7 and 8, to be carried out in safety.

The works are expected to take place overnight (10pm - 5am) between Tuesday 5 February and Saturday 16 February 2013. The works will be carried out in phases using a combination of carriageway and slip road closures, and lane closures with hard shoulder running. A temporary speed limit will be in force, at certain times, in the interest of safety. The speed limit and closures will be applied only to the extent that is necessary for particular works to be undertaken and will only apply during such times and to such extent as would be indicated by traffic signs.

The effect of the Order on the M11 will be to -

- close the exit slip road at J7, diverting traffic to J6 and onto the anticlockwise M25, there to rejoin the M11 northbound and exit at J7,
- allow traffic to utilise the hard shoulder during lane closures and full carriageway closures between J7 and J8, and
- impose a speed limit of 50 miles per hour on the -
a) southbound carriageway of the M11 from a point 70 metres north of Hobbs Cross Road underpass to a point 85 metres south of the exit slip road at J7,
b) southbound carriageway of the M11 from a point 110 metres south of the entry slip road at J8 to a point 110 metres north of Goose Lane overbridge south of J8, and
c) northbound carriageway of the M11 from a point 560 metres north of Matching Road overbridge (connecting Matching Tye to Church Street) to a point 650 metres south of Sawbridgeworth Road underpass (connecting Sawbridgeworth to Hatfield Heath).

Southbound traffic to be diverted off the M11 at J7 and back onto the motorway via the exit and entry slip roads leading to and from the A414 Hastingwood Roundabout.

The speed limit (which would not apply to emergency service or special forces vehicles), closures (which will not apply to emergency service, winter maintenance, traffic officer or works vehicles) and diversion routes will be clearly indicated by traffic signs throughout the works. The Order will come into force on 4 February 2013 and have a maximum duration of 18 months.

Roy joy as he's top boy in final race

RUNNING

ROY Steven gave Harlow Running Club some joy by winning the veteran 60 men's category in the East Herts and West Essex Cross Country League.

The Harlow runner came 59th overall from 98 runners in the final race of the series on Sunday.

This was held over a very muddy five-mile course at Newport Free Grammar School in Newport.

Harlow finished fourth in the four-club series.

In Sunday's race, Harlow's Jared Bethell came second in the men's race ahead of club colleagues Paul Jeffrey-Read (12th) and Marc Lowers (28th).

Harlow's John Tennant was 40th and the first vet 60 finisher on the day.

Paula Reynolds was the first Harlow woman in 9th place from 51 finishers.

She was followed home by club colleagues Dionne Jones (12th), Janice Price (32nd) and Karen Moir (39th).

The final race was won by Andy Mynott (Saffron Striders).

Kathy Chapman (Bishop's Stortford) won the women's race.

Ware Joggers won the team event, ahead of hosts Saffron Striders.

Ware also won the league overall as well as the men's and women's categories.

Saffron Striders finished second in the league.

Weather hits local sport

MUCH of last weekend's sport was postponed as heavy snowfall had meant pitches remained frozen.

Grounds had not had the time to recover with the Hawks' home game against Grays Athletic going by the wayside.

This has been rearranged for Tuesday February 12.

The Harlow & District Football League was wiped out, as was the Footprint Bishop's Stortford, Stansted & District League and the West Essex & East Herts Youth Football League programmes.

The rugby was also hit as Harlow's London division three north east match at Woodford was off.

The bad weather also meant that no matches were played by Harlow Hockey Club at Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth.

Matches in the Harlow Netball League were also cancelled.

Heartbreak for Hawks

HARLOW Hawks' hopes of winning the Herts Plate basketball competition for the second consecutive year were ruthlessly dismantled.

Shab Niaz's side beat North Herts Knights in the 2012 final but were thrashed in this year's showpiece at Luton Fliers.

Luton were bigger but Hawks' player-coach Niaz felt his team should have done better in Sunday's clash.

Niaz said: "They have bigger players but I felt we should have put up a better battle than we did."

"We have been up and down this season. We had too many turnovers against us."

The Hawks started quite

LUTON FLIERS 92, HARLOW HAWKS 50
HERTS PLATE FINAL

brightly. Russ Allan and Shab Niaz picked up points for the Hawks and Luton were thwarted early on before they took over in the last part of the first quarter.

They found their touch and the only way Hawks could stop them was by fouling.

Niaz said: "We did well for the first seven minutes in the first quarter but after that they took over."

Harlow were careless in possession in the second quarter and struggled to find any fluency.

Luton took control and led 40-20 at the halfway stage.

It got no better for the Hawks in the third quarter as they struggled to deal with Luton's defensive tactics.

Russ Stonehouse scored some points for the Hawks but the hosts were far more penetrative in attack.

Luton led 71-36 going into the fourth quarter.

Lee Jones fought hard to conjure scores in this period.

Although the Hawks never gave up they found it hard to limit Luton's attacking play and the home side went on to win by a resounding 42 points.

Niaz added: "We struggled to cope with them defensively and did better when we were attacking. The physical side was also a factor."

HARLOW HAWKS: Stonehouse (12pts), S. Niaz (12), Allan (7pts), Jones (7), Moss (6), Spashett (2), Norkeliunas (2), Lenihan (2), Z. Niaz, Burgess.

Side's extra effort breaks Bulls

A NARROW league loss against Bedford Bulls was turned round by Harlow Hawks as they beat the same opposition 94-87 at home in the Herts Plate basketball semi-final.

The hosts took an early lead in last Wednesday's match when Russ Stonehouse scored after some good team play.

He scored 10 of the 16 points for the Hawks in the first quarter.

Good attacking play came from Russ Allan towards the end of the second quarter.

At the other end the Hawks' defence held up well.

The Essex side led 34-28 at the halfway stage.

The third quarter was a high-scoring period.

Hawks player-coach Shab Niaz scored well for the hosts and Bedford struggled to cope with the movement of Rimantas Norkeliunas at the attacking end.

However, Bedford more than matched the Hawks efforts and the hosts led only 57-54 going into the last quarter.

Both sides fought incredibly hard during this period and Bedford levelled the scores.

The sides could not be split and so the match went into extra time.

The Hawks had a little bit too much in the second period of extra time and won by seven points to clinch a spot in the final (see report above).

HARLOW HAWKS: Norkeliunas (23pts), Stonehouse (21), S. Niaz (20), Allan (14), Spashett (7), Z. Niaz (5), Jones (2), Lenihan (2), Burgess, Moss.

Bailey's the toast of Essex

HARLOW Athletic Club coach Paul Bailey is delighted at being appointed as the junior boys cross country manager for Essex.

Bailey (43) will select the Essex U-13, U-15 and U-17 teams.

The 43-year-old, of Great Auger Street in Harlow, is Harlow AC's cross country and middle-distance running coach.

Bailey, right, said: "We are still selecting the Essex teams for Birmingham [UK Inter-Counties Championships on March 9]. I'm working alongside and being mentored by the chairman of Essex Athletics and other very seasoned stalwarts there."

"I'm honoured to have been given the role and take selection very seriously, always acting impartially to select the strongest possible teams for the county."

He added: "The role will be mainly concentrated between December and March."

Bailey is also a coaching director at Harlow AC, based at Mark Hall Sportscentre.

He said: "It's mainly an administrative role, given the depth of coaching knowledge and talent we have at the club with the likes of Ken Day, Nat Fisher and Ted Cole."

His wife Gina is a teacher at Henry Moore School in Harlow.

Bailey, who is a director of a property development consultancy in London, has lived in Harlow for seven years.

Running must be in the genes. Bailey's younger sister Kirstin was eight times the British Fell Running Champion between 1982 and 1991.

Paul's background in running goes back to his schooldays in Yorkshire when he trained with Bingley AC.

He said: "That club was one of the dominant forces in distance running in the country back in the 1970s, 1980s and 1990s. I started running when I was nine and was lucky enough to train with many international athletes and great coaches at Bingley."

"The older athletes at the club that I used to look up to back then were the likes of Colin Moore [1994 Houston Marathon winner], Steve Binns [10,000m runner at the 1988 Olympics in Seoul] and Richard Nerurkar [who came 5th in the marathon at the 1996 Olympics in Atlanta]."

He added: "I grew up watching the likes of Seb Coe, Steve Cram and Steve Ovett on TV, as most kids did back then – these guys were my heroes."

Bailey added: "I started coaching with Harlow AC a few years ago as my son Joseph had joined the club and they needed help with middle distance and cross country."

Bailey's daughters, Elise (12) and Madeleine (7), are also members of Harlow AC.

Golfer drives on in nations cup

GABRIELLA Cowley teed off yesterday morning (Wednesday) when representing the England Golf women's team in the Portuguese Ladies International championship.

The four-day event at the Montado Golf Resort in south Portugal sees the 16-year-old from Harlow playing alongside two other English players.

They are Dulcie Sverdlhoff (18), from Garon Park GC in Southend-on-Sea and Amber Ratcliffe (17), who plays for Royal Cromer GC in Norfolk.

Sverdlhoff and Cowley were both members of the Essex team which won the 2012 English Counties' Championship at East Devon Golf Club in September.

Cowley has just returned from the Australia Youth Olympics Festival.

Cowley came fifth in her event in Sydney, finishing one over par after firing consistent rounds of 71, 72, 73 and 73.

She was behind two Great Britain golfers: second-placed Georgia Hall (71, 72, 68, 71) and third-placed Chloe Williams (74, 69, 75, 68).

Harten smashes Aussies

IT was sheer joy for former Harlow schoolgirl Jo Harten and her England netball team-mates when they completed a 3-0 series victory over world number one team Australia.

England completed the clean sweep when they beat Australia 58-51 in the final game at the National Indoor Arena (NIA) in Birmingham on Saturday.

Harten (23), who attended St Mark's School in Harlow, played in all three matches and was a key player.

Australia started the match at the NIA well and stormed into a 15-11 lead in the opening quarter.

The hosts remained focused and some industrious play from wing-attack Sasha Corbin ensured skipper Pamela Cookey and goal-shooter Harten kept England to within a point of their old foes at half-time.

Some slick passing from England in the third quarter made light of the visitors' defence as they swept into a 43-38 lead.

Australia had little reply to the hosts' energetic movement in the final quarter and England won by seven points.

Harten, of Mallards Rise, said: "We did well. It was a great way to finish the series. We have been working really hard behind the scenes. It's really good."

This final victory came three days after England had clinched the series by beating Australia 51-49 in the second match at Wembley.

In the second match, Australia started sharply with quick-fire passing, guiding them to a 15-11 lead at the end of the first quarter.

However, England fought back and went on to win 51-49 in front of a 7,000-strong crowd.

This followed a 58-53 triumph in the first match at Bath 11 days ago.

He added: "It was great to win and there was a real roar from the crowd at Wembley. I feel our win in the first game was the better one."

Manager fumes as Mackie quits club

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman admitted he was massively disappointed with midfielder Hector Mackie's decision to quit the club for Ryman premier side Wingate & Finchley.

Mackie, who originally joined Harlow Town from St Albans in October, quit due to the arrival of Clark Akers from Waltham Abbey as he felt he would have less game time in central midfield, his favoured position.

Chapman told the Star: "Wingate put in a seven-day approach for him before Christmas and he turned them down. But now he's decided to go there.

"I don't think he was pleased about us bringing Clark Akers into the side. I thought he had a little bit more about him than that. I was a bit surprised. He seems to think his time in central midfield would be limited but that was not the case at all. Those were his reasons and he has decided to go and play for Wingate & Finchley."

Mackie (24) has previously had spells with Welling United, Potters Bar Town, Bath City and Hayes & Yeading United.

"His ability will be missed but we have Clark. We have already covered that area. I am not really short. I wish him all the best and I hope he does well. It's a shame. It's one of those things. I might try and sign another central midfielder player," said Chapman.

Meanwhile, striker Joel Barnett (23) has quit the club without even kicking a ball.

Barnett, whose debut was delayed by an unpaid fine which meant he was suspended – only spotted by sharp-eyed club Harlow Town secretary Ray Dyer a few hours before he was due to play – has been offered a job in his native Leeds so has moved back home to Yorkshire.

He has had spells at Brentwood, Thurrock and Tilbury.

Chapman said: "I was a little bit disappointed but that's the way of the world. He's been offered a good job in Leeds and that's where he's originally from. I don't blame him."

On the plus side Hawks have a plethora of forwards now after the return of Scott Williams, Piers Wixon and Sam Deaney, plus new recruit Chuck Duru.

Chapman said: "Scott suffered no reaction and I only took him off as he looked a bit tired. Piers got some cramp as he had not played in a fit weeks but should be okay."

Chapman sets aim for rest of season

DANNY Chapman wants his Harlow Town side to double their output for the second half of the Ryman division one north campaign.

The Hawks garnered 20 points from their first 21 games but now have 24 from 23.

Chapman's aim at the start of the season was to finish 10th as the club had tightened their purse strings in the close season.

This resulted in the likes of defender Ryan Kirby, winger Luke Marshall and midfielder Leon Lalite leaving in the close season.

Chapman said: "We are not going to be promoted or be in the play-offs but I want a top 10 spot. If we can get there we will have done well bearing in mind the circumstances."

He added: "I want a minimum of 40 more points for us, to get 60 points. The important thing is to take one game at a time."

Chapman feels there is more competition for places now. "There have been a few players that have had a look at it and felt nobody can come in for them. They may have taken their foot off it," he said.

"Now, people will be looking at it and know that if they do not do their job there are other people in the squad that can come in and have their chance."

Chapman has also been impressed with youngsters Mitchell Das and Ben Hart. "Mitchell has done well for us up front but I regard him as more of a left wing or left of midfield," he said. "Ben follows instructions and he works hard. He also gets in a good number of crosses."

Future uncertain for Barnard

THE playing future of Hawks right-back Donny Barnard is uncertain.

Barnard (28) has been plagued by injuries this season and he went off during Harlow Town's 2-2 home draw against Witham Town on Tuesday.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "Donny keeps on breaking down. He broke down again on Tuesday.

"We need to sit down and have a chat with him and see what should be done."

"He has had a calf problem and still gets pain in his groin."

Chapman said Barnard, right, is unlikely to be fit for this Saturday's home clash against Needham Market. Defender Alex Finney (16) could come in on loan from Leyton Orient as cover.

Chapman is looking for six points from the Needham game and the rearranged Ware clash at Wodson Park on Tuesday.

Ware were leading Harlow 4-2 in the Boxing Day game but it was abandoned after 72 minutes due to the water-logged conditions.

Chapman said: "We can be positive as we have not been beaten in two games. I have heard Needham have lost experienced players and have got academy players in but it will be a hard game. I want to get three points."

"We got out of it at Ware last time and we must take the opportunity and go for the three points."

Strikers ignite for Hawks' fightback

HARLOW TN 2, WITHAM TN 2, RYMAN LEAGUE, DIVISION ONE NORTH

THE Hawks showed tremendous spirit to fight back from 2-0 down at half-time to secure a point against Witham Town at Barrows Farm.

Tuesday's game was Harlow Town's first match in 17 days, due to the heavy snow over the last fortnight.

Witham had only one defeat in their last 10 matches so for Harlow Town to hit back and claim a draw certainly showed there is some spirit in Danny Chapman's side.

Also encouraging was the substitute appearance of former Thamesmead Town striker Chuck Duru.

He replaced Scott Williams in the second half and looked a bundle of energy.

Chapman told the Star: "The wind played a massive factor. They had the first half and we had the second half."

"I was disappointed with their first goal as we have generally defended set-pieces well this season. With the second goal we could have been tighter but sometimes you just have to hold your hand up when you have a strike like that."

He added: "There were still one or two things not right in the second half but I could not have asked for anything more.

"Our second goal really pleased me in that we got behind their defence. It was a good finish."

Witham scored twice in three minutes fairly early in the second half to give the hosts a mountain to climb.

On 14 minutes a free-kick on the right touchline from James Stevens was met by centre-half Tom Devaux who ghosted in completely unmarked at the far post to head past Hawks keeper Bert Bossu.

It was 2-0 on 16 minutes with the goal of the night.

A mistake by Hawks centre-half Michael Akande was latched onto by Paul White and he slipped the ball through to Emeka Onwubiko.

He then flicked the ball on his left to Daniel Lopez who hit a sensational strike from 25 yards out which flew past Bossu and into the top left corner.

Piers Wixon, playing his first game after three weeks out with a hamstring injury, gave Harlow hope with a goal on the hour.

Bossu's long goal kick was neatly flicked on by Williams, himself playing his first game in nearly a month after a knee injury, and his header found Wixon finished well finding the bottom left corner from just outside the box with a powerful strike.

Harlow levelled on 69 minutes after Mitchell Das's long cross from the left went right across the box and eventually found Ben Hart.

The young right winger showed composure before smashing a shot from 12 yards out across goal and into the same corner that Wixon found.

Chapman added: "[Duru] did very well and held the ball up well. He gave their defence something to think about."

TOP START: Sam Watts, far right, with Texas Christian University colleagues in Alabama (S)

Sweet home Alabama!

SAM Watts broke an important barrier when he competed in his first athletics meeting in Alabama, USA.

The 20-year-old Harlow-born sprinter set a personal best (PB) of 6.97 seconds in an indoor 60m race.

Watts has just started a four-year degree course at Texas Christian University (TCU). His great time was achieved in the Auburn Indoor Invitational Meeting featuring 14 university teams at Birmingham in Alabama.

The former Great Britain junior international's previous PB was 7.01s. He is on a scholarship in Texas to study sports science and psychology.

His mother Pam Walker said: "Sam is very self-critical and said he mucked up the race but he got under seven seconds for the first time."

"He has done under seven seconds in training before and got very frustrated that he had not done it in a race."

She added: "It is good out there with the training and all the medical back up he gets. He trains every day."

Watts also clocked 21.56m in his first ever indoor 200m heat and his time in this distance was the fifth fastest in the meeting. The fastest time was 21.07s.

Watts is much appreciated by TCU head coach Darryl Anderson.

Anderson said: "He is a sprinter that has great range in the 100 and 200 and in relays. He has represented the United Kingdom in their junior teams."

"Any time you can get a person in your program of that calibre is exciting. He will be able to contribute to our team both short- and long-term."

Osagie's Glasgow kiss off

-ch Osagie was third in a personal best and what would have been a new national record time of 1 minute 16.45, involved world 400m hurdle champion Greene, who was second (1:16.22) and Solomon (1:15.70).

Afterwards Osagie tweeted: "I love that people have to run national records to beat me.. would just love them not to! Haha! Well done @DuaneBang800 and @Dai Greene."

The former Burnt Mill School student, whose family home is in Northbrooks, became a British household name when he competed in the Olympics in London.

He got to the final of his event, widely recognised as the greatest 800m Olympic final of all time.

His time of 1:43.6 would have given him the gold medal at the three previous Olympics in Beijing, Athens and Sydney.

Osagie has been working hard as he prepares for the indoor season.

He went to Kenya in the autumn with the Great Britain team for high-altitude training.

The athlete was relishing racing Greene.

He said beforehand: "The prospect of going up against Dai is something I'm really looking forward to."

Greene added: "It's nice to get the national record. I knew that either Andrew or myself would get it so I just made sure I beat him to the line."

"The competition between Andrew and myself is all very friendly. We're all good friends here on the team. I think we enjoyed taking each other out of our comfort zone. It's something that's not exactly our specialty event. You can't really read much into it other than that it was a good competitive race and I hope everyone enjoyed it."

Steel silky skills seal GB bronze

The format was such that players were not in fixed positions.

In coming third GB took in their stride a change of venue in the latter stages of the competition due to the heat. The event was moved from Darling Harbour to Sydney Boys High School.

Steel told the Star: "I feel I performed pretty well. We rose to the level of the competition and won five out of eight games. "The target was to get a medal and we did that. It was a terrific team effort."

Each game lasted 10 minutes and Great Britain won four of their six group games.

GB beat New Zealand 20-12, Australia (B side) 21-12, China 15-14 and Indonesia 19-17.

The defeats came against Oceania (13-14) and Australia (A side) 21-12.

His proud father Alex added: "I would also like to thank the GB coaches for all they put in as well as Passmores School for allowing Joshua to train there before Christmas and this helped him a lot."

Australia A beat Australia B in the final.

Mark Stock had an outshot of 114 for Buccaneers, while Steve Salter threw a 180 for Whites.

Steve Palmer chipped in with a 180 for Colt Hatch in their 5-3 victory at Paringdon Social.

White Admiral thrashed Sawbridgeworth Brewery 8-0.

Servo Link defeated Staple Tye Colts 6-2 despite a maximum from Darren Harlow and a 116 outshot for Martyn Davies.

Elsewhere, Moot House Raiders lost 6-2 at home to Stow Snooker 6.

Tye Green Foxes drew 4-4 at home to Moot House.

Jo eyes Games gold

>>Cont'd from back about consistently trying to follow up on your performances."

She added: "I want to show I am one of the best strikers in the world this season."

"When you are playing in that league you are playing top players from Australia and that helps me. My overall consistency is on the up."

Harten is hoping to help her Christchurch team go up the rankings.

"I want us to go up the table. We need to put three or four wins together," she said.

They won only two out of 13 games last year but did not drop out of the league as there is no relegation.

Harten avoided the disruption caused by the major earthquake which destroyed much of Christchurch in February 2011.

However, the city has regular tremors and is widely thought of as one of the most dangerous places to live due to the high number of earthquakes.

Harten said: "The club used to be in one place which was destroyed and now we have separate training places."

Swifts boss chip off the old block

By DAVID RIMMER
david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

BISHOP'S Stortford
Swifts boss John Watters – the son of stalwart Harlow-based non-League manager Don Watters – is proving to be a chip off the old block.

The 30-year-old former Mark Hall schoolboy is doing a sound job in his first season at Swifts after he was player-manager at Takeley reserves for two years.

student Watters has taken Swifts to the top of the Essex Olympian League senior division one table as well as guiding them to two quarter-finals.

They are in the last eight in the Herts Intermediate Cup (where they take on Bushey Rangers this weekend) and the Essex Olympian League Cup.

Watters has a role model in his father Don in non-League football.

Don, who lives in Fir Park in Harlow, is well known locally for his management of Essex Senior League teams such as Takeley, Sawbridgeworth Town and Stansted.

His prize haul at Sawbridgeworth included winning the Herts Charity Cup and South Midlands Floodlit Cup trophies. He also steered Takeley into the Essex Senior League for the first time in the club's history.

Watters snr also guided striker Gary Hart from Stansted into the Football League when the Harlow-born striker joined Brighton & Hove Albion in 1998.

He has been a football manager for more than 30 years.

His son John, by contrast, is at the very early stages of his managerial career.

John said: "I had six players [at Swifts] from last year and brought the rest in. It has taken time to bring everything together.

"We have won seven in a row and even when we do not play well I have players like Gavin Cockman and Ross Bristow that can turn a game with a bit of magic. It is not all about me."

"I could not have done it without my assistant Wayne Bowden and [coach] James Courtenay. I would be disappointed if we did not win two [trophies]."

He added: "I want to get to the [Essex Olympian League] senior premier division. I find that more football is played in this league than in the Essex Senior League where it is more kick and rush."

Comparisons between father and son are obvious but Watters jnr is equally passionate.

"My dad is louder than me but I am just as passionate. I have learned the value of preparation from him."

"He would go and see a player five or six times before he signed him."

John's younger brother and former Takeley and Sawbridgeworth

Town player Mark Watters, 29, is also in the Swifts side.

"He [Mark] knows he won't play if he does not do well. I am sure he would do the same with me," said John.

Watters snr is proud of his eldest son. "He has surprised me. I thought he might be a bit soft. He knows the way he wants his side to play and he has had good results," he said.

Who knows? One day John might take over as boss at Harlow Town FC – the job his father has craved for many a year!

Watters returns to management

HARLOW-based stalwart non-League football manager Don Watters has returned as manager of the Bishop's Stortford FC reserve team.

He has replaced Paul Joynes, who has moved to Ryman League division one north club Tilbury as assistant manager.

Former Sawbridgeworth Town, Stansted and Takeley boss Watters, of Fir Park, has agreed to step into the breach caused by Joynes' departure.

Watters (61), who originally managed the old Nortel team in the Essex Intermediate League, had taken over as reserve team boss of the Capital League eastern division side in the summer but was forced to quit due to work commitments.

However, his work commitments at Glaxo Smith Kline in Harlow have now eased and he has been able to take over as boss again.

Watters told the Star: "I have enjoyed managing at the likes of Stansted, Takeley and Sawbridgeworth but this is a different level."

"When I stopped doing it [in October] I missed doing it after two weeks."

Watters has known Bishop's Stortford's first team boss Rod Stringer for many years from their days in Harlow.

He added: "There is talent in the club. I would like to provide him [Stringer] with two players."

Stringer gained his first coaching break with Watters at Sawbridgeworth when the latter managed the team in the Essex Senior League and the former Harlow Town player became one of his coaches.

Stringer then went on to manage at Aveley, enjoying huge success, before his successful spell in charge of Braintree Town when he took the Iron up to the Conference for the first time in the club's history.

Osagie's Glasgow kiss off

Harlow ace breaks previous national record - but is third

ANDREW Osagie smashed a British national record in the Glasgow International meeting live on BBC1 on Saturday - and still finished third!

Coming just over five months after he missed out on a medal in the 800metres at the Olympics despite registering a time which would have sealed gold in the previous three Games, the 24-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member competed in the 600m against GB hurdler and world champion Dai Greene plus American sensation Duane Solomon.

He was pipped by both winner Solomon and Greene, who both broke the 600m record for their respective nations.

It was Osagie's first major indoor event of the season.

Jo eyes Commonwealth gold

JOANNE Harten believes her England netball team has been lifted by the series whitewash over World No.1 side Australia and can now win the gold medal at next year's Commonwealth Games in Glasgow.

The former St Mark's School student, right, played a key role in the 3-0 home series win against the Aussies, which concluded on Saturday.

She gained a bronze medal in the Commonwealth Games in Delhi, India in 2010.

Harten (23) tweeted: "The more we can do this, the more we've got a chance at the Commonwealth Games."

the Church Langley estate in Harlow and headed back to New Zealand yesterday (Wednesday) to play a second year in the semi-professional ANZ Championships for Canterbury Tactix in Christchurch.

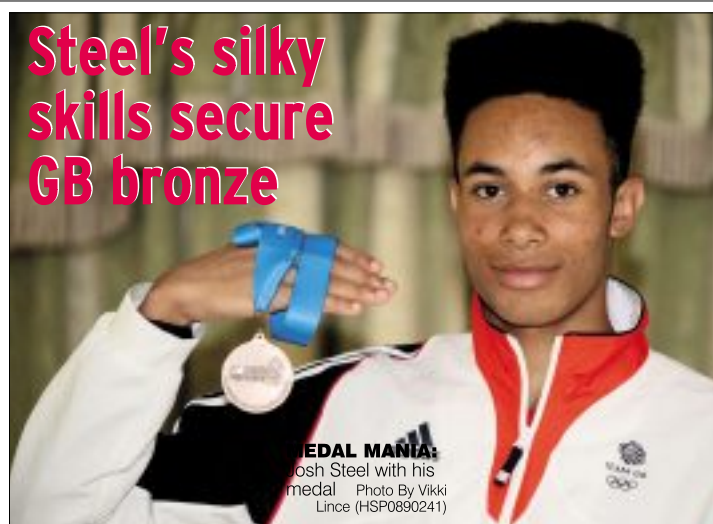

Covering Australia and New Zealand, this is the top-rated netball league in the world.

She told the Star: "We came 10th from 10 teams last season. In terms of my season I was the seventh best striker in the league."
